Dhamma Jananī, meaning 'Mother of Dhamma', is situated in Lumbini, the birthplace of the Buddha. Situated near Bhairahawa City in the western region of Nepal, the Centre started operating in the year 2000.

The Dhamma hall can seat nearly 200 students but there is accommodation for only about 20 male and 20 female students at this time, all with attached bath. 36 meditation cells are available. One 10-day course is being conducted every month, and two Satipaṭṭhāna courses every year.

The number of students in each course is steady with many visitors to the birthplace of the Buddha taking out time to sit courses here.

Permanent dining halls and a permanent kitchen are to be constructed in the future, and currently the Centre is using temporary facility for cooking and eating.
